LEFT IN A HURRY.

George B. Smith school teacher, Mayor and Justice of Peace, of Clifton, has suddenly disappeared and is supposed to have gone to California. The past year he has taught at the Allentown school, and on Sunday night left for Springfield, where he was to board and go back and forth to school on the traction line. Tuesday he sent a substitute and a note to the pupils bidding them good-bye and telling them he would never see them again. He is said to have had financial difficulties and was sued by Charles Hackett for $50, the trial to come off Saturday.

Rev. John Wilson, of the McCormick Seminary of Chicago, arrived home last Saturday morning for a week's visit with his mother before he takes up his work filling a pulpit near Springfield, Ill.

Mr. R. C. Kyle continues to improve.

CHOIR LEADER.

Thomas Gibson, 81, of the Gibson plumbing firm, 639 Walnut street, enjoys the unique distinction of having led the congregational singing in the First Reformed Presbyterian Church, Plum street, near Eighth, for sixty-two consecutive years.

Mr. Gibson was born near Edinburgh, Scotland, July 21, 1824, and came to this country when 7 years old. In 1839 he moved to Cincinnati.

Shortly after his arrival, Mr. Gibson took music lessons from Timothy B. Mason, at that time organist at the Second Presbyterian Church.

At the age of 20 he was selected to lead the singing of the First Reformed Presbyterian Church, which, in accordance with the rules of that denomination, is entirely congregational and unaccompanied by any musical instrument.

He has held that position ever since, and seldom misses a Sunday service. The old gentleman says many hymns sung fifty or sixty years ago are his favorites to-day.

When he came to this city, Mr. Gibson says the property now occupied by St. Peter's Roman Catholic Cathedral and the City Building was a large lumber yard, which extended from Seventh street to Ninth, between Plum street and Central Avenue.

In order to secure a foot and carriage way between their residence and Trinity Church, Methodist living west of Plum street succeeded in having Eighth street extended through the lumber yard.

Another story told by Mr. Gibson is that when the old church property in Shillito place, between Elm and Race streets, was purchased a number of officials raised a violent protest against locating the edifice there which they termed the country.

Their desire was to build the church at Pearl and Ludlow, the center of the city.

DEATH OF MILO RANDALL.

The funeral services of Mr. Milo Randall, an old and highly respected citizen of this community, were held Thursday afternoon, from the M. E. church, at 1:30. He had long been a sufferer from paralysis, the first attack coming on a couple of years ago. He rallied from this and was again able to be about and late last fall he suffered another stroke. Since then he has been quite poorly and the third stroke which came a couple of weeks ago left little hope for his recovery, and his death was not unexpected. Mr. Randall was born Oct. 12, 1840, and for many years followed the business of a plasterer and brick mason in Cedarville. He served 2½ years in the Rebellion as a bugler, Co. D, 9th Michigan Cavalry. He was married July 28, 1865, to Miss Elizabeth Thomson who, with one son, Prof. Kirt Randall, superintendent of the public schools survives him. One daughter, Grace, student of the high school, died in 1892.

The floral offerings consisted of carnations and roses presented by the teachers and pupils of the High Schools, roses from Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, of Springfield.

The funeral services were conducted from the M. E. church, by Rev. H. C. Middleton. Burial taking place at Masses Creek cemetery. The pall-bearers: J. W. McEwen, J. M. Bromage, George Randall, Lewis Gilbert, M. V. Denny and J. M. Tarbox.

BROWN CANVASSES THE TOWNSHIP.

The primary situation in which Messrs. J. S. Brown, D. B. McElwain and Edwin Dean were arrested Monday April 3 on a charge of interfering with an election has not yet been brought up by the Probate court.

Mr. Brown not satisfied with the results as seen by the court, after hearing a number of the things that the "gangsters" were doing and at the solicitation of many of his farmer friends, concluded to canvass the township. He was accompanied by a notary who took the signature of the person under oath that had voted for him for Central Committee-man.

There were 200 votes cast in the township, of which 100 were counted one being spoiled. The count gave Jackson 145, Brown 54. The first day Mr. Brown was out he took the signatures of over 60 men that say they voted for him. The work was continued until Saturday noon when he went before the Central Committee with 103 names.

The rules of the Committee were that protests must be filed by the Friday previous. Mr. Brown was aware of this but could not complete his canvass by this time. Then there was little hope that the committee would recognize the protest from the fact it concerned the election of Mr. Jackson, who is the Chairman of the committee and under the control of "Boss" Schmidt. Had the matter been brought before the committee it would have been lost by about a vote of 25 to 30, showing the chance the "dear public" has under "Boss" rule. While Mr. Jackson stated that he hoped the Committee would lay aside the rules and take up the matter, yet he was perfectly safe in making such a statement, knowing full well when it came time to vote the "Boss" would have his men lined up as how to vote. Mr. Snodgrass spoke in behalf of Mr. Brown and Cheney Creators, the "Bosses" right hand man, made a motion to receive the petition, the wink passed around and the motion was declared lost. Mr. Brown and his friends were not disappointed in the least, at the action of the Schmidt henchmen.

There never was a time when the farmer was "on his ear" as the saying goes at the present time. So anxious were they to sign Mr. Brown's paper that they called him up by telephone to call and see them. At the present time the list has been raised to about 110 with about fifty of the 200 voters that haven't been asked to sign it. Mr. Brown is determined that the matter be sifted to the bottom and has the best legal advice in the county as to his proceedings. Attorneys Darlington, Gowdy, Snodgrass, and Judges Dean and Shearer being his advisors.

IT WAS ONLY TALK.

There was considerable talk on the streets Wednesday that Samuel Lyons, colored, had made a confession as to the killing of Jacob Harris a couple of years ago. Lyons has been helpless for some time with paralysis, and being a Bowtie convert is said to have confessed many of his sins. Reports were that Lyons assisted in the murdering of Harris and knew who drowned a colored woman in Yellow Springs some years ago. As far as the Herald has been able to learn there is no truth in the reports but if they are correct they are denied by the family to protect the son.

MRS. KEYES WRITES A LETTER

We left Jacksonville for the Magic City, Miami, the terminal of the East Coast Railroad and enroute stopped at St. Augustine, the ancient city filled with famous show places and rich with relics of past English and Spanish rule. We walked on the top of the sea wall which runs along the entire bay front from St. Francis Barracks, one a Franciscan Monastery, to Old Fort Marion.

On entering visitors are requested to register. Doing this, we first went into the dungeon and it was terribly dark, a lighted match could not be seen and in our imagination we could hear the walking of the hundreds of prisoners who had been confined within this solid tomb of stone years ago. Next we entered the execution room where 1200 Indians were captives at one time and saw where the finger points, which the Chief of the tribe dug into the solid stone wall with his finger nails.

One can hardly realize it possible for so many human beings to have been confined in such a small room. There remains four different locks on each door of the different cells, of the old Spanish pattern. After going through each room, we mounted the broad stone steps up to the top and climbed up into the look-out tower from which one can see across the beautiful bay to the Atlantic beach beyond. So enraptured with the charming scenes and recalling the many experiences of the defenders of this ancient city we had lingered so long and the guard called. All those wishing to go out of the fort come this way.

But imagine our surprise when we reached the outer door to find it locked. In about ten minutes the guard returned from the top and he explained that the door is locked promptly at noon. But those inside can stay if they wish to. So we were the jolliest set of prisoners ever in old Fort Marion. There were fifty in the party. The door is open from 9 a. m. until 12 m. and from 2 p. m. until 5 p. m.

Palatial are the great hotels, Ponce de Leon, the Alcazar and Annex and are triumphs of Spanish Moresque architecture. Surrounded with tropical foliage making the hotel gardens marvels of Southern beauty.

Out next stop was at Palm Beach and nothing that is written can be exaggerated about its attractiveness and loveliness. The magnificent Royal Poinciana which is rated as the largest hotel in the world faces Lake Worth and the Breakers a half mile east with its wide verandas and broad promenades looks out upon the Atlantic, surrounded by the most gorgeous tropical gardens as well as the half mile asphaltum promenade connecting the two hotels.

We landed in Miami 206 miles south of Jacksonville, a city built upon solid rock. This rock makes the finest roads in the world and also is valuable for building material; the new courthouse and jail and several of the business houses and fine residences are built of it. It is a peculiar coral formation containing a great deal of plant food and fruit trees, tropical trees and flowers grow in perfection and apparently naturally in solid rock. As we looked at this beautiful city of 4,000 people with its glorious prospects and (think) 8 years ago, only one little store where trade was with Indians and a few scattered families, was all that was here in a perfect wilderness of tropical growth. There certainly was no more place unworthy along the East Coast to build such a beautiful city, whose streets are pure white. Alaudin and his magic lamp could only obtain such achievement, but Henry M. Flagler, with his millions has made the great genius who has made the pure white sand of the Florida East Coast, produce the finest trunk farms hundreds of acres of pineapples, orange groves and homes for the hundreds of happy families.

The government has at work a dredge boat deepening the channel from the Atlantic through Biscayne Bay. The government and railroad each appropriated $800,000 for this work and Miami will be an important maritime shipping point.

We spent a day on the beach here and secured a fine collection of shells, a sea crab, sea grass, coral etc. and each one was asked to our feet by the beautiful Atlantic waves.

W. R. STERRETT HAS SOLD OUT.

When the announcement was made that the firm of Kerr and Hastings Bros. had purchased the elevator and other buildings belonging to Mr. W. R. Sterrett, the news came as quite a surprise to most persons as they were not aware that Mr. Sterrett was desirous of leaving this field. Mr. Sterrett stated to the Herald that during the past year he has contemplated selling thinking that after a continuous business career for nearly a quarter of a century, he was entitled to a rest.

For 14 years Mr. Sterrett was associated with Mr. D. S. Ervin and in 1890 purchased the old Sweeney corner, erected a fine elevator and ventured into business for himself. The terms of sale are that Mr. Sterrett is to dispose of his stock by the first of June, at which time the owners will take possession of the elevator. Another month is granted him to clear up his business using the office as it is at present.

Mr. Sterrett states that he has no definite plans for the future, though he has two locations in view where he might locate in the same business. The firm of Kerr and Hastings Bros., the new owners have by their enterprising methods built up a good business and acquiring the new property will only give them better facilities in waiting on their ever increasing trade. The past season found them in a cramped condition and it was only a matter of time until they would have had to enlarge their present plant. This could not have been done with out a great deal of loss to their trade. This firm with its twentieth century methods of doing business has made it one of the strongest firms in the county.

COUNCIL MEETING.

Council met in regular session Monday evening all members being present. After the reading of the minutes the passage of and ordinance granting the Central Union Telephone company a franchise was taken up. The ordinance was up at two former meetings and received the first and second reading at those times. The ordinance was passed granting the franchise by a vote of 4 to 2. Messrs. Welmer and Caldwell opposing.

Reports of the different committees were read and accepted. A communication signed by a number of the residents of "Pittsburg" was read. They ask that council put down a well in that part of the corporation for the use of the public, there being no well in that end of town. Mayor McFarland named Andrew and Shrodes as a committee to investigate.

The time of year for making the assessments for the different funds having arrived, council spent some time in deciding just how much money would be required for this year. Last year $225 was levied while only $225 was asked for this year. Of this amount money was levied for the drilling deeper of the town well at the opera house.

Bills to the amount of $43.17 were allowed and ordered paid.

TRAPPED AGAIN ARE THE BOSSSES.

The Herald has the information that a movement was on foot in Xenia Thursday to try and slide track Mr. Brown in his legal attempt to shown up the result of the primary here where in he was defeated by the Andrew-Ridgway-Jackson counting machine. After the protest was knocked out at the Central Committee meeting last Saturday it was announced that the committee would meet for organization on Saturday, April 22. Fearing that Mr. Brown's movement might result in checking Jackson from taking his seat, a game was concocted by "Boss" Schmidt and "Lib" Dines, the two ex-demoscrats, to call those members of the committee that would be favorable to them and have the organization on Thursday, April 20. This would keep the anti-gang members just elected from having any say in the organization. The information as we have it is—at Mr. Dines will send out the notices some time today or tomorrow, Saturday. The Herald is well aware of what the "bosses" have planned and the only way to head off the matter is by having some other date than Thursday or Saturday. We won't be surprised to next here that the "gang" committee-man will be loaded on a car and shipped to Dayton and have "Boss" Lowes of that city assist the two ex-demoscrats in organizing the committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowles of Jamestown spent Sabbath, with the latter's sister, Mrs. Chas. Smith of this place.

Miss Louise Smith, attended the funeral of her friend, Miss Hanna Gillespie, at Xenia Saturday.

Keep your eyes on Mr. Brown.

The Primary mystery is still unsolved.

Andy, had you noticed Mr. Brown's in town?

Of what standing is a man morally that will delude his own son, to gain something politically.

Now it is being claimed that the "gang" did not steal the ballot box, but that they did buy most of the votes.

The fight at the last primary to down the "gang" was a good movement and in time to come will bear fruit.

That Central Committee meeting in Xenia last Saturday was conducted about on the same principles as was Andy's primary.

Electing men to conduct primary elections who are devoid of both honesty and ability is putting a premium upon both.

Are you, Mr. Farmer one of Andy's traducers? If you have taken the oath that you voted for Mr. Brown you are one of the 110 liars.

It's to be regretted that in clearing up the primary mystery that men responsible for the situation cannot be reached instead of their "tools."

One of the Andrew-Ridgway-Jackson henchmen stated that a man that would sign the Brown paper against Mr. Jackson would sell his vote, and could't be believed under oath.

The patrons of the Cedarville School District should feel proud over the clerk of the board. A pretty obstacle to have on the stage at the commencement exercises next month.

The fact that Mr. Brown has canvassed the township accompanied by a notary and taken the names of the men under oath that voted for him has made Andy take to the tail and uncut.

Mr. Brown is not the only man that has suffered at the hands of the "gangsters". Both Messrs. O. T. Wolford and H. C. Watt were executed in the same manner attempted on Mr. Brown.

Cheney Cretors, a recognized gangster of the first class, did not think it well to break any of the Central Committee rules to hear Mr. Brown's protest. Cheney is such a conscientious fellow as was shown by the vote Arnold got in his ward.

The Xenia Herald says that "The Hon. Andy Jackson will star another season in 'The County Chairman'". Yes, during the past season Andy proved himself a star actor, for instance his engagements at Wilmington, the O. S. & S. O. Home and at the Xenia depot.

The bets that the "gangsters" were offering previous to the election that Mr. Brown would not get fifty votes shows on the face of it what the managers expected to do. From Mr. Brown's canvass it now appears that Andy was the one that would not have had the fifty.

FIFTY CENTS

IN some conditions the gain from the use of Scott's Emulsion is very rapid. For this reason we put up a fifty-cent size, which is enough for an ordinary cough or cold or useful as a trial for babies and children. In other conditions the gain is slower—health cannot be built up in a day. In such cases Scott's Emulsion must be taken as nourishment, a food rather than a medicine. It's a food for tired and weak digestions.

ART AND AN ALDERMAN.

A Criticism That Took Sculptor French's Breath Away.

A story is told of an Allegheny alderman named McElroy who won a place in the hall of fame by reason of a criticism that for the moment rendered Daniel C. French, the sculptor, speechless.

When Andrew Carnegie announced that he would present a statue of Colonel William B. Anderson, the first ironmaster of Pittsburgh, to the city of Allegheny Daniel C. French was given the commission.

The statue was duly finished, and a committee of aldermen came to New York to inspect and decide whether it was satisfactory. Mr. Carnegie's stipulation being that the finished work of art be subject to the approval of the city council. It is an extraordinarily beautiful work, representing a brawny blacksmith seated on his anvil with a great maul resting on one knee and a book on the other. Mr. French's idea was to symbolize the workman who used both brawn and brain. The blacksmith was resting between the heats of his forge and employed the interval reading.

Five members of the company were unanimous in praise, one moving at once that the statue be accepted in behalf of the city.

Then the critical Mr. McElroy jumped to his feet and said: "There is one point I want cleared. I notice this blacksmith has no shirt on. I never saw a blacksmith in my life who did not wear a shirt. If he didn't wear a shirt the sparks would fly and burn him when he strikes the hot iron."

The sculptor was speechless. This was a class of criticism to which he had no ready reply.

But another member of the committee saved the day—and the statue—to posterity. He explained that the blacksmith had probably removed the shirt to cool off while reading.

The sculptor breathed again. He permitted the committee to believe that was his purpose in showing the wonderful physical development of the man of brain and muscle.

The statue was then accepted, and the shirtless Anderson now occupies his pedestal in the Haymarket square, Allegheny. New York Press.

A Clever Equivalent.

Sir William Gull, the famous English physician, was once the victim of an amusing piece of repartee on the part of a fellow practitioner. The occasion was a dinner party, at which several distinguished medical men were present.

The conversation happened to turn upon the subject of quackery, and Sir William Gull expressed his conviction that a certain amount of it was essential to success in practice, adding:

"It is an example of the old saying, 'Populus vult decipi' (People like to be deceived)."

"Quite so," said the host. "Now, can any one present give an English equivalent to that?"

"Nothing easier," dryly remarked another physician; "the public like to be 'gulled'."

She Broke the Spell.

"No, I'm not superstitious," said a citizen in conversation, "but my wife is. She went out yesterday and forgot her parasol, so she came back and laid down her pocketbook to get her parasol, then went out and forgot her pocketbook, so back she came the second time and sat down. 'Aren't you going out?' I asked. 'Yes, but if I went out the second time without sitting down to break the spell I would have bad luck.'"

"She got up and went out, and I saw that she had sat down on a brand new silk hat that cost me $8 and had ruined it. That was not very good luck for me."

Football Test of Character.

President Roosevelt once attended a football match between Yale and Harvard university teams and sat by one of the Yale professors. He noticed one of the players who again and again failed to support his side at a critical juncture. Turning to the professor, he said, "What is your opinion of that man?" The professor replied: "I advised the captain not to play that man. He is slack at his studies. Being slack at work, he will be slack at play."

"Yes," replied the president, "it is character that counts both in work and play."—C. B. Fry in London News.

An Exemplary Congregation.

"Taking them one with another," said a well known Chicago clergyman at a recent dinner, "I believe my congregation to be the most exemplary observers of the religious ordinance."

"Why so?" asked his neighbor, a lawyer with the cross questioning habit strong upon him. "Because the poor in this congregation of mine keep all the fasts and the rich all the feasts."

A Curious Complaint.

As a cross examiner John Philpot Curran, the famous Irish orator and lawyer, was unrivaled. He was ingenious, says Barry O'Brien in his book of reminiscences entitled "Irish Memories," witty, trenchant, raking a witness by the fire of raillery or overwhelming him by a series of perplexing questions.

"My lord," cried one of his victims, "I cannot answer Mr. Curran. He is putting me in such a doldrum."

"A doldrum!" exclaimed the judge. "What is a doldrum, Mr. Curran?"

"Oh, my lord," replied Curran, "it is a common complaint with persons like the witness. It is a confusion of the head arising from a corruption of the heart."

Crushed.

The cigar girl in a Walnut street office building is red headed and is frequently teased about her hair by customers. She doesn't let them worry her, though, and usually gives them as good as they send. The other day a young man stepped up to the cigar case and touched the girl's hair with his finger. Drawing back his hand quickly, he began to shake it. "My!" he said. "I burned myself!" "Oh, no, you didn't," came from the girl. "You're away too green to burn." When the youth heard several men near by laugh he found he had pressing business outside.—Kansas City Times.

Charlemagne's Humor.

Charlemagne was in need of amusement. "Why," they asked him, "do you have such a large number of court jesters in constant attendance on your royal person?"

"Because," he replied, with a right regal chuckle, "I could not earn the surname of 'The Great' were I not careful to keep my wit about me."

It is said that the courtiers died laughing.—Cleveland Leader.

TAKE WINE OF CARDUI AT HOME

Are you a sufferer? Has your doctor been unsuccessful? Wouldn't you prefer to treat yourself—AT HOME?

Nearly 1,500,000 women have bought Wine of Cardui from their druggists and have cured themselves at home of such troubles as periodical, bearing down and ovarian pains, leucorrhea, barrenness, nervousness, dizziness, anaemia and general debility, caused by female weakness.

These are not easy cases. Wine of Cardui cures when the doctor can't.

Wine of Cardui does not irritate the organs. There is no pain in the treatment. It is a soothing tonic of healing herbs, free from strong and drastic drugs. It is successful because it cures in a natural way.

Wine of Cardui can be bought from your druggist at $1.00 a bottle and you can begin this treatment today. Will you try it?

IT'S A TENDER POINT with us to hear our meats criticised. We avoid it by handling only the very choicest grades.

TAKE OUR STAKES for instance. They are from fresh young steers, raised especially for beef. There's no finer meat produced in this or any other country. Try one and see how much your appetite improves. It will beat all the tonics you ever took.

CONSUMPTION'S WARNING

Inside facts soon become evident in outside symptoms.—DR. G. G. GREEN.

The aid of scientific inventions is not needed to determine whether your lungs are affected. The first symptoms can be readily noted by anyone of average intelligence.

There is no disease known that gives so many plain warnings of its approach as consumption, and no serious disease that can be so quickly reached and checked, if the medicine used is Dr. Boesche's German Syrup, which is made to cure consumption.

It is in the early stages that German Syrup should be taken, when warnings are given in the cough that won't quit, the congestion of the bronchial tubes and the gradual weakening of the lungs, accompanied by frequent expectoration.

But no matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has already attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble.

THE OLD AND TRUE SAYING

"NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE SUCCESS"

For the reason that success is an indication of Merit and has the influencing effect for others to pursue the same course. As we desire to still further extend our suit, coat and skirt business, and are equipped in every way to handle in successfully and to the great advantage to purchasers, we beg to proclaim the unbounded success which this Department of our store has already attained within the past month. Styles have come to us—fabrics of the choicest nature—and we have won wondrously. We say to you today, come and see the greatest feast we have prepared for you—the variety of fashionable models and materials, and to particularly observe the prices.

The prices will depend upon yourself. We begin with Silk Shirt Waist Suits at $12.50 and go up to $25.50 and easy prices between—but in the matter of Tailored Suits we begin these at $3.98 and go on up to $45.00, and the variety is remarkable and tone most excellent, both with regard to those made of smart woolen materials and the walking suit of silk. The collection of Silk Coats that are now anxiously sought after is the finest seen in this city, starting at $10.00 up to $50.00. We however, quote four special numbers unusually priced as an introduction.

COVERT COAT RULES

To be sure Silks are goods, but the trim, big English Tan Covert is entrenched in first place. Nothing else so beautifully sets off good tailoring—nothing so well becomes the average woman. The fact the covert coats can be had for five dollars does not lessen the charm of a finer one at twenty. Here are these specials today:

$5.00 COVERT COATS

Several shades and come in 21 and 24-inches lengths, loose or tight-fitting-effects, jaunty fly fronts, new collarless, or with notched lapel collar, silk lined and finely tailored. Later on these coats will command $7.00 or $8.00.

$8.50 COVERT COATS

Comprising fine grade and covert cloth, worth all the way up to $12.00. Plain weaves and fancy weaves, newest strapped, welted or stitched seams, English box styles and other effects. These should find many admirers and quicker purchasers.

$10.00 COVERT COAT

Made in black habit dots and tan covert. This coat has a collarless effect, with tab of velvet trimmed in soutache on each side of the collar, also on each side of front of coat; other styles also which are the late production from the best designs.
